When Winning Matters ...

At Jarrard Phillips Cate & Hancock, we specialize in helping hospitals and healthcare organizations shape and manage public opinion to achieve important strategic goals.

Our team of former healthcare and hospital marketers, journalists and political operatives has developed and directed successful campaigns in 30 states — from clearing the way for an acquisition or expansion to protecting a client's reputation and market share.

In short, we help clients win. We understand healthcare and the complex pressures that drive the industry. And we bring intensity, intelligence and discipline — the cornerstones of any good political campaign — to the healthcare arena.

We stand ready to help you win, too.
